Exercise 4: Find the mistake

24. This pen is mine.

With no noun after it, use mine, not my.

25. Is this book yours?

Possessive pronouns never have an apostrophe.

26. That is their house.

Before a noun, use the adjective their, not theirs.

27. The dog is hers.

Hers has no apostrophe.

28. These seats are ours.

With no noun after it, use ours.

29. My bike is old, but your bike is new.

The reviewer's answer is already accepted, because you can use your + noun (your bike) or yours without a noun.

30. Whose is this sweater? Is it his?

To show who owns something, use his, not him.

31. That isn't my coat.

The reviewer's answer is already accepted; 'That isn't mine.' is now also accepted, because mine is correct when the noun is removed, as in item 29.

Exercise 5: Put the words in order

32. Is this phone yours?

Question: Is + this + noun + pronoun?

33. That bag isn't mine.

Negative: noun + isn't + pronoun.

34. Whose keys are these?

Whose + noun comes first in the question.

35. The tickets are not ours.

Negative: subject + are not + pronoun.

36. The green umbrella is hers.

The pronoun comes at the end, after is.

37. Is it his or yours?

Use or to ask between two owners.

Notes for teachers: Start by holding up classroom objects and asking 'Whose is this?' so learners answer 'It's mine / It's hers'. Typical mistakes are using an apostrophe (your's, her's), using an adjective without a noun (It's my), and putting a noun after a pronoun (theirs house). As a follow-up, collect one item from each student in a box and let learners pick an item and ask 'Is this yours?' until they find the owner.
