Explanations

- B – After will we use the base form of the verb without -s or to.
- C – The negative of will is will not, short form won't.
- D – In questions with will, will comes before the subject: Will you help...?
- A – Will is followed by the base form be, and will never takes -s.
- B – The negative prediction is won't + base form; we don't use do or to with will.
- D – Short answers to will questions use will: Yes, they will.
- B – The negative short answer to a will question is No, it won't.
- C – I will becomes I'll; I'd means I would and I'm means I am.
- A – For a question about the future we use question word + will + subject + base form.
- C – The word order is Will + subject + base form: Will you be...?
- B – We use I'll to offer help at the moment of speaking.
- C – To offer to do something, we ask Shall I...?, not Will I...?
- D – This sentence tells someone what you will definitely do for them, so it is a promise.
- B – This sentence says what we think will happen in the future, so it is a prediction.
- A – Offers use I'll + base form; the present simple is not used for offers.
- B – The speaker is saying they will definitely return the money, which is a promise.
- C – After I'm sure we use will for a prediction about the future.
- D – For negative predictions we usually say I don't think + will.
- B – Probably goes after will ('ll) and before the main verb.
- A – A negative promise uses won't + base form.
- B – A promise uses will + base form: I will be there.
- C – After I think we use will + base form for a prediction.
- A – Shall I...? is the correct way to make an offer as a question.
- D – I'll + base form is used to offer to do something.
- C – A negative promise uses won't, the short form of will not.
- C – After will we use the base form call, without -s.
- A – Questions with will don't use do; the correct form is Will you come...?
- B – Not goes after will: I will not (won't) be late.
- A – To make an offer as a question we say Shall I...?, not Will I...?
- C – We never use to after will: robots will do.

Notes for teachers: Use this test after introducing will for predictions, offers and promises, or as a review. It targets frequent A2 errors: adding -s or to after will (will rains, will to go), using do with will (Do you will...?), forming the negative incorrectly (willn't, not will) and saying Will I...? instead of Shall I...? for offers. As a follow-up, ask students to write three predictions about their town in 2050, one offer and one promise to a classmate.
