Answer key – Future Continuous and Future Perfect – Worksheet 1

Exercise 1: Future continuous

1. will be flying
The action will be in progress at a specific time in the future.
2. will be having
Dinner will be in progress at eight o'clock.
3. Will you be using
The future continuous makes a question about someone's plans polite and neutral.
4. won't be waiting
The negative is won't / will not + be + -ing.
5. will be driving
This describes an ongoing situation at a point in the future.
6. will be working
This describes an activity in progress over a future period.
7. Will they be staying
The question form is Will + subject + be + -ing.
8. won't be watching
This is a negative statement about a future arrangement.

Exercise 2: Future perfect

9. will have saved
The action will be complete before a point in the future.
10. will have started
'By the time' shows that the action happens before another future event.
11. won't have finished
The negative is won't / will not + have + past participle.
12. Will you have read
The question form is Will + subject + have + past participle.
13. will have found
This predicts something that will be completed before 2030.
14. will have been
The future perfect with 'for' shows duration up to a future point.
15. will have gone
The action will already be complete by 11 p.m.
16. Will the builders have completed
This question asks if the action will be finished before a future time.

Exercise 3: Choose the right form

17. will have left
'By the time' shows the leaving will be complete before you wake up.
18. will be sleeping
Sleeping will be in progress at midnight.
19. will be waiting
Waiting will be in progress when you arrive.
20. will have learned
'By the end of' shows completion before a future point.
21. will be travelling
'This time next month' points to an action in progress.
22. won't have arrived
The arrival will not be complete by Monday.
23. will have spent
The spending will be complete by the end of the holiday.

Exercise 4: Rewrite the sentences

24. At noon tomorrow, Jana will be working.
At noon her work will be in progress, so use the future continuous.
25. By 5 p.m., the meeting will have ended.
The meeting will be over before 5 p.m., so use the future perfect.
26. Will you be coming to the party on Saturday?
The future continuous sounds more polite when asking about plans.
27. We won't have finished the project by Friday.
Put 'not' after 'will': won't have + past participle.
28. Will Sam have repaired the car by tonight?
Move 'will' before the subject to form the question.
29. They won't be living in Berlin next year.
The negative is won't / will not + be + -ing.

Exercise 5: Find and correct the mistake

30. This time next week, I will be lying on a beach in Greece.

An action in progress at a future time needs the future continuous.

31. By the time you arrive, we will have finished dinner.

The future perfect needs the past participle: finished.

32. Will you be working late tonight?

The future continuous uses 'be', not 'been', before the -ing form.

33. She won't have arrived by six o'clock.

After 'have', use the past participle: arrived.

34. By next summer, I will have finished my degree.

'By next summer' shows completion, so use will have + past participle.

35. Don't worry, they won't be waiting long.

The future continuous needs the -ing form: waiting.

36. By the end of the month, how many books will you have read?

In questions, 'will' comes before the subject.

Notes for teachers: Start with a timeline on the board. Mark a point in the future and contrast an action in progress at that point (will be doing) with an action finished before it (will have done). Learners often forget the -ing or past participle (will be wait, will have finish), and they mix up the two tenses after 'by'. Remind them that 'by' and 'by the time' usually signal the future perfect. As a follow-up, ask pairs to describe what they will be doing this time next year and what they will have achieved by then.
